Let's show you what's happening inside...

Our state-of-the-art video otoscope system can show inside your ear canal right up to your ear drum, all visible on the colour screen.

See inside your ear like never before, with no discomfort whatsoever!

Video otoscopy allows us to clearly visualise the ear canal and ear drum by projecting an image onto a computer monitor.

Using video otoscopy, we can see first hand any conditions such as the presence or build up of wax, or debris in the canal that may cause problems with your hearing.

Give your ears a clean bill of health!

Video otoscopy ultimately provides both patients and audiologists with a greater understanding and appreciation of what is happening inside your ear.

Unblock the problem with our FREE Wax Removal Clinic

It's not the most pleasant topics to talk about, but removing ear wax can help you hear better.

Earwax is a natural substance that keeps the inner parts of your ear free from dirt and debris. But excess levels of earwax can be unsightly, cause discomfort and affect your hearing. If you think you are suffering from a build up of earwax, come and see us at the Better Hearing Clinic Event and take advantage of our FREE Wax Removal Clinic with our trained Specialist Nurse Julie Murray.

She will check your ear canal for signs of excess wax using the Video Otoscope system shown above.

If there is a higher than normal level of wax Nurse Murray will remove the wax straight away. The state-of-the-art equipment used is a ClearSound technique that requires no harsh syringing but removes any blockage with a specially designed pulse machine or a gentle wash with warm water.

Julie says, "The Better Hearing Clinic Event is the perfect opportunity to give your ears a complete health check and it may be something as simple as earwax that is causing your hearing problems."

Julie Murray

Your Questions Answered...

Anything you are unsure of, simply ask our fully qualified Hearing Aid Audiologists

Q. How will wearing a hearing aid affect my hearing in the future?

A. Tests have actually shown that those people who wear their hearing aid regularly, strain less to hear and reduce the rate of further deterioration compared to people who need a hearing aid and do not wear it!

Q. My wife says the TV is too loud for her. I feel my hearing is OK so would a test be a waste of time?

A. No! It is never a waste of time. Our dispenser will always give you the best advice and will be happy to confirm if you have no hearing loss! Your test is completely without obligation and there is no pressure to have a hearing aid, just honest and sound advice.

Q. My friend has a NHS hearing aid which looks big and uncomfortable. If I needed a hearing aid, would it be the same size?

A. We can offer a whole range of small and discreet in-the-ear solutions and you will be advised on the best hearing solution for your hearing loss. As we are independent of any hearing aid manufacturer we can offer a wide selection of hearing aids and styles from small virtually invisible aids to power aids for more of a severe hearing loss.

Q. Do I have to pay for tests and service in the future?

A. No, our aftercare is free for life and there will never be a charge for re-testing, servicing or even home visits.

£3.2m OLD GAOL DEAL WAS 'BEST' ON OFFER

• Abingdon's Old Gaol

• Vale council leader Matthew Barber

By Loughlan Campbell

ABINGDON'S past and present leaders have maintained the £3.2 million sale of the town's Old Gaol to a housing developer in 2009 was 'the best offer on the market' at the time.

Vale of White Horse District Council had originally agreed a figure of £6.3m with Abingdon-based Cranbourne Homes in December 2007 in a deal that would see 61 apartments built on the site.

But, following the recession which hit the country shortly afterwards, Cranbourne re-negotiated the deal with the Vale, with the final figure falling to £3.2m after the developer said it would have to pull out unless that sum was accepted.

Since then, the Vale has received a £2m capital receipt and a £1.2m share from the sale of the apartments.

The deal, which was revealed on Friday, was only made public following a Freedom of Information request from anonymous group Abingdon First and the expiration of 'commercial sensitivity' between the Vale and Cranbourne.

Matthew Barber, the Vale's Conservative leader, said: "At the time, the Old Gaol was contributing nothing to the town and we now have a redeveloped site that is an attractive public space rather than an empty, boarded-up site."

The Vale also received an additional £1m from Cranbourne to be ring-fenced for meeting local housing needs after the developer could not provide the number of affordable homes agreed in the 2007 deal.

Mr Barber added: "The deal is great news for the people of Abingdon. We now have that money which we can put aside to bring homes to other vital areas in Abingdon as part of an affordable housing scheme."

Mr Barber said he believed there was a 'political desire' from the former Liberal Democrat-led council in 2007 to get the deal done.

Former Lib Dem Vale councillor and Oxfordshire county councillor, Richard Webber said: "It was absolutely the best offer on the market at the time. Cranbourne was the only offer that would have seen a developer buy the site, the others wanted the council to front some cash for it.

"It would have been crazy and awful for the council to consider redeveloping the site themselves. Local councils just don't have the resources to sustain sites like this."

As well as the apartments, the development will include a restaurant quarter, a public garden and a courtyard.

The Old Gaol was built in 1812 as a county jail at a cost of £26,000.

In the 1960s, it was rebuilt as a sports centre and a swimming pool. It closed in 2002 and a £12m new leisure centre was opened the same year in Audlett Drive.

Jayden's mum launches domestic abuse charity

By Loughlan Campbell

THE mother of murdered Didcot teenager Jayden Parkinson has spoken about her decision to launch a charity to provide comfort for teenagers who have suffered domestic abuse.

Samantha Shrewsbury has set up Jayden's Gift in memory of her daughter, who died in December 2013.

The 17-year-old's body was found in the graveyard of All Saints Church in Didcot after she had been killed by ex-boyfriend Ben Blakeley in a jealous rage in a field near Upton on December 3.

Blakeley was sentenced to life in prison on July 25 last year.

Ms Shrewsbury said: "We are getting together to think of things to do to raise money and awareness of what needs to be done to help combat teenage domestic abuse.

"We just want to make something positive come from something that is quite nasty."

The plans for the charity eventually involve a home where victims can 'come together and be safe'.

The group held a fundraising event at The Wheatsheaf in Wantage Road last Saturday to commemorate Jayden's 19th birthday, and featured live music, a barbecue, prize draw and hair-braiding.

It raised around £650 for the group, which is expected to have its registered charity status confirmed in the coming months.

Staff member cleared of misconduct

A THAMES Valley Police staff member has been cleared of misconduct in relation to the Jayden Parkinson missing person investigation.

The force confirmed yesterday that the staff member had "no case to answer" after they and three officers were referred to misconduct proceedings.

Thames Valley Police referred the matter to the Independent Police Complaints Commission on December 14, 2013, to look at their response into Jayden being reported missing and their contact with her before she was murdered.

The first misconduct meeting was held last Friday, where the staff member was cleared.

Two of the three officers' meetings will be held tomorrow, while a date has yet to be set for the third officer. A final written warning is the highest sanction that could be imposed.

Landlord fined for "filthy" living conditions

AN OXFORD landlord has been ordered to pay more than £4,600 for running an unlicensed and unsafe House in Multiple Occupation (HMO).

Mohammed Waqas Anwar, of Oxford Road in Kidlington, appeared at Oxford Magistrates' Court on Monday where he pleaded guilty to six breaches of HMO regulations.

He was prosecuted after Oxford City Council environmental health officers visited the house, in Ridgefield Road, last November and found broken smoke alarms, a missing fire door and a bathroom in a filthy condition.

Anwar was fined £2,000 for being in control of an unlicensed HMO, £1,250 for five breaches of Management of HMO regulations, and told to pay the council's full costs of £1,426.

Bob Price, leader of the city council, said: "Since introducing the HMO licensing scheme in 2011 we have licensed nearly 3,500 properties in the city.

"The council is planning to extend the scheme for a further five years and would like to encourage all landlords whose properties do not currently have licenses to contact us."

He added: "We will of course take action against landlords who fail to comply with the legal requirements to license and maintain HMOs to an acceptable and safe standard."

Conman warning

OXON: Residents were conned out of almost half a million pounds by doorstep criminals across Oxfordshire in the last year.

They paid out £430,475 to conmen from 2014 to 2015, figures from Oxfordshire County Council's trading standards team revealed yesterday.

Officers also received 377 complaints in the same period.

Staff led an operation across South Oxfordshire yesterday of several patrols scouring known doorstep crime hotspots.

The council's doorstep crime lead officer Martin Woodley said: "These unscrupulous traders often prey on the elderly and vulnerable by using pressure tactics."

Top High Street

CHIPPING NORTON: Chipping Norton is one of three finalists vying for the title of Britain's best high street in the market town category of the Great British High Street awards.

The town is due to find out which other two market towns it faces in the competition today.

The winner will be decided by a visit from judges and public votes over the next six weeks.

They will also get a share of £80,000 prize money.

Wantage won the best town centre category last year, while Belper in Derbyshire won the market town category.

Sex assault arrest

OXON: A man has been arrested in connection to a sexual assault on a 10-year-old boy in the toilets of Cherwell Services on the M40.

The 21-year-old, from Wetherby in West Yorkshire, was arrested by police and bailed until November 9.

At about 3pm on Sunday, August 23, the boy was touched over his clothes by a man.

Cancer-battling mum set to tackle half marathon

A SOUTH Oxfordshire-raised mum-of-three is set to run the Oxford Vitality Half Marathon this month three years after she was diagnosed with leukaemia.

Julia Heron, 42, who grew up in Brightwell-cum-Sotwell but now lives and teaches at The Chase School in Malvern, was enjoying a holiday in Florida in September 2012 when she collapsed in her hotel room.

After being taken to the MD Anderson cancer hospital in Orlando, she was diagnosed with acute promyelocytic leukaemia - a rare case of acute myeloid leukaemia in five to 10 per cent of leukaemia cases.

Julia was left with very little immunity following her diagnosis and underwent chemotherapy in an isolation room in hospital for seven weeks.

By Loughlan Campbell

The art teacher said: "It made me feel really isolated at the time and afterwards I really struggled to walk as I had lost a lot of strength in my muscles. I struggled to even lift my legs to climb the stars."

She left the hospital two days after her 40th birthday and was determined to beat the illness, buying a treadmill for herself.

She added: "I bought the treadmill to start walking just to give it a go and I found myself really enjoying it and getting a real buzz off it."

Julia entered remission in February 2013, but has since completed 5km and 10km events and half marathons across the country.

She celebrated the two-year anniversary of her remission from cancer by running in the Barcelona Half Marathon in February.

She also just ran the Great North Run, a 13.1-mile event from Newcastle to South Shields, last month to raise money for cancer charity, Bloodwise.

The mum-of-three, who had never run properly before her battle with cancer, has applied to take part in next year's London Marathon, calling it her 'dream run'.

She said: "It would be a dream come true to run that next year. I've applied and I've got my fingers crossed that they'll take me on as that can really cap things off for me."

Julie said her family including husband Jeff and three children, Sebastian, 17, Oliver, 15, and Dominic, 10, had been 'so supportive' of her running.

She added: "They've coped well with it and have been so supportive for me.

"I think they find me a bit mad but Jeff has now started running to help keep me company so they're playing a big role and helping me out."

The Oxford Half, which will explore a city route for this first time this year, will take place on Sunday, October 11, and be Julie's seventh half marathon since her diagnosis.

'I was good father' man tells baby murder jury

A DAD accused of murdering his 11-week-old baby told an Oxford Crown Court jury that he was 'a good father'.

Jordan Saxton, 22, denies murdering Jayden Saxton last November at the Untons Place home in Faringdon that he shared with the child's mother Tracy Ray.

Saxton, who is originally from Cowley, made the claim after prosecutor Paul Dunkels recounted the transcript of the interviews that he gave on March 10 at Abingdon Police Station.

He told the police: "Being a dad was all new to me and the first time I put a nappy on Jayden, I put it on backwards.

"I just got stuck into being a parent, I was a good father and I did not have any concerns about myself as a dad."

When Saxton was asked what he thought of his newborn son, he told police: "He is amazing, sort of moaney, but that was Jayden. He used to smile whenever I said his name."

Previously in the trial, it was revealed that the toddler's right clavicle (shoulder blade) had been completely fractured. A post mortem found that nine of Jayden's ribs had been severely fractured between October 21 and November 4 last year.

After Jordan called an ambulance, Jayden was taken to Swindon's Great Western Hospital before he was moved to Bristol Royal Hospital for Children, where his life support was switched off two days later.

Ancient treasures go on display in museum exhibition

RESIDENTS can marvel at an 800-year-old Hindu statue in a special exhibition at the Museum of Oxford in the Town Hall.

The statue of Hindu god Ganesha, which originates from Odisha in Eastern India and is currently on loan from the British Museum in London, is the centrepiece of the exhibition, entitled '40 Years, 40 Objects'.

A 400-year-old civil war spear, called 'The Halberd', one of the discoveries from recent archaeological excavations at Westgate, Oxford, is also on display at the event.

Antonia Harland-Lang, who worked with members of the community to curate the exhibition, said: "It is great to display Ganesha in an exhibition."

'Begging order' plans back before council

By Loughlan Campbell

OXFORD City Council reaffirmed its proposals to introduce a 'begging order' in the city on Tuesday despite opposition from residents and human rights organisations.

The council wants to introduce a controversial public service protection order (PSPO) across Oxford, which would combat 'aggressive begging', 'remaining in a public toilet without reasonable excuse' and 'nuisance' busking.

The order means that people committing such acts could be fined up to £100.

Liberty, a human rights organisation based in London, called in June for the council to scrap the 'unlawful' plans, which it said 'criminalises homeless people and buskers'.

The group's letter delayed the decision and the council reviewed the order, which was published on Tuesday.

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price said: "We reviewed the process and included data to explain our reasons for implementing the report and have now provided evidence of the harm and damage that's caused in our city centre."

The new report revealed that between July 1, 2014, and June 15 this year, there were 89 reports of begging made to the police in Oxford.

The report also stated that on 26 occasions one or more people were found sleeping or occupying a toilet for 'an extended period of time' between January and June this year.

However, the results from a survey into the PSPO revealed that 48 per cent of people felt these issues should not be included in the order.

Cllr Price added: "We think this order will improve life in the city centre and it will act as a warning device for those that abuse it."

But Green councillor Sam Holick said: "It's disappointing to see that the principles of the report remain the same.

"We should not be criminalising behaviour like this."

Rosie Brighouse, legal officer at Liberty, said: "We appreciate the time Oxford City Council has taken in amending its draft PSPO but we still have significant concerns.

"By their very nature, these orders are blunt instruments which can criminalise the most vulnerable.

"We will continue to liaise with the council to try and persuade them to think again."

PSPOs are seen as a update on existing public space restrictions such as alcohol designated public place orders.

The updated report is set to go in front of the council's scrutiny committee next Tuesday, with the council's executive board set to decide whether to implement it on October 15.

Marathon effort in honour of Skye

AN OXFORD runner is looking to raise £1,000 in memory of an Abingdon boy when she takes on the Yorkshire Marathon later this month.

Lucy Hamilton, 56, will run the 26-mile route around York on October 11 to fundraise for charity Blue Skye Thinking set up in honour of five-year-old Skye Hall, who died from a brain tumour in August 2014.

Blue Skye Thinking was founded by Skye's parents Andrew and Sally Hall shortly before he died, raising money for research into brain tumours in children.

Lucy said: "I felt very sad for the family but admired their determination to continue to do good for children in the future who might develop brain tumours."

Robbery in alley

BERINSFIELD: A 22-year-old man was found laying on the ground by a passer-by after being hit on the back of the head in a Berinsfield alley on Sunday.

The victim's silver necklace was stolen after he was attacked walking along the path between Evenlode Drive and Colwell Road at 12.30pm.

Investigating officer, PC Gavin Chan, of Didcot Police Station, said: "This was a frightening and unprovoked robbery."

He appealed for anyone with information about the incident to call police on 101.

Recycling boost

VALE OF WHITE HORSE: Residents across the Vale of White Horse can recycle small electrical items and clothes in carrier bags left by the kerbside from Monday.

Residents can put out textiles with their green bin, and items such as kettles, toasters and hairdryers with their black bins on the normal collection day.

The initiative was launched in South Oxfordshire last month, where workers picked up two tonnes of small electricals in the first week and two tonnes of textiles the week after.

Electrical items are taken to Newbury for processing and textiles to East London.

Rapist held after global manhunt

By Katriona Ormiston

IT could be up to two years before a convicted Oxford rapist who fled to Hong Kong is deported to the UK and jailed.

Joseph Tsang, of Sandy Lane, Littlemore, was caught by Hong Kong Police on Friday following an international manhunt. But it could be between two months and two years before the 31-year-old is flown back to be sentenced at Oxford Crown Court for 10 sexual offences.

• Fugitive Joseph Tsang was arrested in Hong Kong

The Oxfordshire Guardian published an appeal to track down Tsang in September after he absconded before he was due to appear in a trial at Oxford Crown Court in August.

Deputy local policing area commander for Oxford, Acting Chief Inspector John Turner, said: "We would like to thank the public and media for their assistance during our wanted investigation after Tsang failed to appear at court for a trial into sexual offences in Hampshire, having already been convicted for sexual offences in Oxfordshire."

In January at Oxford Crown Court, he was found guilty of three counts of sexual activity with a child under 16, making indecent images of a child, and two counts of causing or inciting a girl under 16 to engage in sexual offences. All the crimes were in Oxfordshire.

Later, on August 25, he was found guilty in his absence following a six-day trial of two counts of rape and two counts of sexual assault by penetration, all in Hampshire.

Thames Valley Police issued a warrant for his arrest and urged anyone who knew where he was to think about the 'living nightmare' his victims went through.

The force said he could have fled to Hong Kong, where he had connections, before Interpol drafted a warrant for his arrest.

Tsang, an amateur skater, was arrested at 8.30pm on Friday and appeared at Eastern Magistrates' Court in Hong Kong on Saturday.

He is now due to be sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on a date to be confirmed.

Insp Turner said: "We would also like to thank all the partner agencies we have worked alongside during this investigation, including the Crown Prosecution Service, Hampshire Constabulary, the National Crime Agency, the Hong Kong Police, the Hong Kong Crown Prosecution Service, Interpol and UK Immigration."

Headteacher to face trial on child-sex allegations

A FORMER Oxfordshire headteacher who has pleaded not guilty to four counts of sexual offences against girls aged under 13 will stand trial in February.

Christopher Field, 46, of Green Lane, Chieveley, Berkshire, appeared at Oxford Crown Court on Monday in connection with three charges of assault on a girl under 13 by touching and one of inciting a girl under 13 to engage in sexual activity.

The offences are alleged to have taken place while Field was the headteacher at Woodcote Primary School in South Oxfordshire between 2010 and 2012.

Field pleaded not guilty to all four counts at a previous hearing at the same court back in July.

A trial date had previously been set for January 18 next year, but this was pushed back to February 22 at Monday's hearing, with the case being estimated to take 10 days to hear.

Judge Zoe Smith said there was likely to be "quite a lot of witnesses" for the case.

A pre-trial review has been scheduled for January 18.

Field has been released on bail until the trial.

University boffins help build world's biggest telescope

• An artist's impression of the Extremely Large Telescope (image courtesy of the European Southern Observatory)

By Katriona Ormiston

RESEARCHERS from Oxford University are designing and building part of what will become the world's biggest telescope in Chile.

Their piece of £14.2 million hardware, called a spectrograph, will be fitted to the European Extremely Large Telescope (E-ELT) in the Atacama Desert in northern Chile.

Building work on the £800m telescope, dubbed "the world's biggest eye on the sky", started last year and is due to be first used in 2024.

It aims to track down Earth-like planets and help scientists study distant and young galaxies in better detail than before to help increase our understanding of the universe.

Called HARNMONI, the spectrograph will be one of the three scientific instruments fitted to the E-ELT.

It will split up light from objects in the sky to reveal the movement, temperature and chemical composition of structures.

The project is being led by Professor Niranjan Thatte, of the university's Department of Physics, who described the instrument as 'a workhorse'.

Prof Thatte said: "It will revolutionise observational astronomy through the 2020s and beyond. By studying the light from galaxies, distant and nearby, in great detail, we hope to unravel the physical processes that have shaped the cosmos throughout its history."

The Oxford researchers signed a deal with the European Southern Observatory (ESO) last week to lead the design and build with the United Kingdom Astronomy Technology Centre and RAL Space in the UK.

The ESO's director general Tim de Zeeuw said: "There is already a lot of progress in Chile on the summit of Armazones and the next few years will be very exciting."

He added: "A fully working E-ELT will be the most powerful of all the extremely large telescope projects currently planned, with superior light-collecting area and instrumentation.

"It will allow the initial characterisation of Earth-mass exoplanets, the study of the resolved stellar populations in nearby galaxies as well as ultra-sensitive observations of the deep universe."

- The European Extremely Large Telescope (E-ELT) will be a 39-metre aperture optical and infrared telescope on the Cerro Armazones in the Chilean Atacama Desert.
- The HARNMONI spectrograph will be one of the three scientific instruments fitted to the E-ELT.
- It will split the light from the object in the sky into its component wavelength or colours.
- HARMONI will slice the light entering the E-ELT into 152 separate slitlets, each of which would be analysed for 214 points along its length.
- Astronomers can use that to reveal the motion, temperature, and chemical composition of structures using the telescope.
- It will provide details such as high resolution for bright objects and high sensitivity for dim, distant objects.

Film stars in home search

HOLLYWOOD A-lister Brad Pitt could soon be moving to South Oxfordshire after rumours surfaced the 51-year-old and his wife Angelina Jolie, 40, were house-hunting.

The film stars could potentially join Pitt's Ocean's Eleven co-star George Clooney and his wife Amal Alamuddin, 37, who live in Sonning Eye in a £10m mansion.

The move, which would need space for Pitt and Jolie's six children; Maddox, 14, Pax Thien, 11, Zaharah, 10, Shiloh, 9 and seven-year-old twins Knox and Vivienne, would coincide with Pitt filming his next film at Pinewood Studios in Iver Heath, Buckinghamshire, next year.

A source is quoted as saying: "Brad will need to be in England in the New Year for his next flick at Pinewood Studios, just north of London. Sonning to Pinewood will be a breeze of a commute but means him, Angelina and the kids will still have the luxury of living out in the sticks."

OXFORD/DIDCOT: A 23-year-old Didcot man was arrested after a man in fancy dress was attacked in the Slug and Lettuce pub next to Oxford Castle on Sunday.

The 28-year-old victim suffered a serious cut to the face in the assault at 12.15am. The Didcot man was arrested on suspicion of grievous bodily harm and has been bailed until November 10.

Truck misses out

OXON: Truck Festival in Steventon missed out on the top 'Golden Welly Award' for best independent music festival after being shortlisted in the top five.

The Association of Independent Music award was handed to Brainchild Festival in Sussex at a ceremony in London.

But Oxfordshire's sell-out festival at Hill Farm is still in the mix for the 'Best Festival' award for the under-15,000 capacity in the Live Music Industry Awards.

It was held on July 17 and 18 this year and hosted 6,000 music fans alongside acts including Basement Jaxx, The Charlatans, Slaves and Clean Bandit.

A winner will be announced on Friday, October 16, during a ceremony in London.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director James Miller feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Hit-and-run plea

OXFORD: An 18-year-old man was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital on Saturday with serious head and limb injuries after a hit-and-run collision on the city's Blackbird Leys estate.

Police are appealing for help to trace the car involved which drove away from a pelican crossing in Blackbird Leys Road after stopping momentarily.

The collision occurred at about 4pm. The car is described as being light-coloured and could have damage to its bonnet and windscreen.

The pedestrian was later released from hospital.

Track tested as opening date for Parkway looms

By Loughlan Campbell

WITH less than a month until the new Oxford Parkway railway station opens its doors to the public, the first trains have travelled over the new track.

The station - the first to be built in Oxford for 79 years - will open on October 26, linking the city to London Marylebone.

Trains from Chiltern Railways tested the track last week as part of driver training for the £320million project.

The station at Water Eaton, near Kidlington, built next to a park-and-ride site, will offer journeys to London in just under an hour.

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price said: "I think this station is a wonderful development for the people of Oxford and it will prove to be of huge economic benefit to our local economy as it will boost links between Oxford and London.

"After having a look around the station, I can say that it really is fantastic and people will be surprised how busy it will be when it opens this month."

The new route has been connected to Chiltern's Birmingham-to-London line via a new 1km stretch of track built south of Bicester.

Cllr Price believes the new link will lead to a rise in house prices in Oxford.

"More people will also want to take up the option of living in Oxford due to the attractive nature of the commute which will once again raise issues of finding houses in Oxford for them," he said.

Stephen Barker, chief project engineer at Chiltern Railways, said: "The project has been over 10 years in the making, constituting an investment of £130m for Chiltern and we are thrilled to see the first driver instruction trains travel across the junction on to the new line."

Andy Milne, senior programme manager at Network Rail, said: "This is a real step forward in reconnecting the railway from Oxford and Bicester towards Bletchley, Milton Keynes and Bedford."

It is the first new rail link between London and a major British city for over 100 years.

Filmmaker screens debut epic

A WALLINGFORD filmmaker has already got his eyes on his next project after he premiered his debut film at the Wallingford Corn Exchange on Saturday.

A large crowd attended the Market Place venue to watch the 21-minute film, entitled 'Exit Plan', which follows a man trying to escape the Earth after a meteorite sends the Moon heading on a crash course towards the earth.

Richard Oakes, 31, from Wallingford, was a former bin man but now manages the Wallingford-based production company Dark Fable Media.

He made the film in his hometown of Cardigan, West Wales, where he and friend Mark Brugere shot the scenes with a couple of pals and extras over the course of four days.

Richard, who gave a speech before the premiere and hosted a Q&A session afterwards, said: "It was a really good event, everybody seemed to react well to the film and there were no awkward silences, which was great for me as I was really nervous!

"It was a really fun experience and we got lots of questions from the audience at the Q&A session."

Richard is aiming to get a new project in development to start shooting next year, which would be his first feature-length film.

He added: "We've been cooking up a new story that we just need to get a script written up for which I'm really excited about. We should shoot that next year."

Preparation work begins on Oxford's flooding relief river

With investigation works underway on plans to build a £120million flood prevention channel for Oxford, Oxfordshire Guardian reporter Loughlan Campbell visited the dig site where the relief river would go

SPECIALIST contractors WYG are about halfway through the ground investigation work digging 130 boreholes and trial pits over 7km between Botley and Sandford to test out the soil.

They were near South Hinksey last week trying to figure out how and where the relief river would be built between Oxford's Botley Road and Sandford, working on behalf of the Environment Agency (EA).

Oxford was badly hit by flooding in 2003, 2007, 2012 and 2014, shutting Botley Road and Abingdon Road at times and flooding hundreds of homes and businesses.

Joanna Larmour, the EA's project director, said: "The results of this work will give us a better understanding of the nature of the rock and soils underlying the area through which the flood relief channel will be excavated.

"Alongside the information gathered during our recent public consultation events in June, we will use the data to develop channel route options that provide most benefit for the people of Oxford and the surrounding area."

Peter Collins, the EA's flood risk management leader, said: "It's about understanding how the environment will be affected by our work as well as making the most optimum decision for the people of Oxford.

"The work will help us design the flood relief channel and we will report to the public in a consultation period early next year with our designs of what it will likely look like.

"The channel will be no different to any other river with some quite deep sections and some high sections."

The trial pits are about 1m wide, 3m long, and up to 3.5m deep, and the boreholes are about 15cm in diameter and up to 10 metres deep. All the pits and boreholes being dug are filled in the same day.

Oxford Flood Alliance member and Kennington resident, John Mastroddi, said: "We are in favour of this scheme working, however it's just a question of knowing where exactly it's going to be. They have listened to our opinions, but it's going to be difficult to know if it will work."

So far, £100m has been raised to fund the project by the government, Oxfordshire County Council, Thames Regional Flood and Coastal Committee and the Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership.

The county council's deputy leader, Rodney Rose, said: "There is still funding to be found for the project but I won't get too bothered by it until we start putting the diggers in the ground for the actual channel."

Building work on the channel could start in 2018.

School signs up to trial testing teenage lie-ins

• The school sleep study could improve GCSE results

By Katriona Ormiston

THE first school has signed up to an Oxford University trial to test if starting lessons at 10am boosts exam results.

The school in Bolton is taking part in the sleep study launching in September next year, while an Oxfordshire school is considering joining the trial.

It is the first of its kind in the UK and would see Year 10 and 11 pupils start lessons an hour later to see if their GCSE grades rise.

Oxford University sleep expert Christopher Harvey said: "During adolescence our biological clock changes so teenagers are biologically predisposed to sleep later and stay up later.

"Starting at 9am their body clocks are not optimised for learning. It kicks in at about 10am when pupils are more able to take in information."

In total more than 30,000 pupils from 100 schools across England are to join the Teensleep project.

It is the largest ever study to look at delayed school start times on results and will run for two years.

It will also look at sleep education and what effect teaching pupils about sleep patterns could have.

One Eynsham school is considering joining the trial, as well as at least eight others across the UK.

The 100 schools need to be signed up by next July.

They would then be split into four groups; those trialling the delayed start time, sleep education, both, or neither.

Sleep education would involve five lessons teaching pupils the science and biology of sleep and how to get the best out of when to go to sleep and how long to sleep for.

Dr Harvey, based in South Parks Road, added: "Teaching this could help them become more resilient psychologically during periods of transition in early adulthood .

"We have some pilot data from a school in the south east which shows if you delay start times results actually improve.

"A lot of the data that backs this up is from the US, but the issue with the US is their schools start very early; from 6.30am to 8.30am, so their delayed starts were 8.30am or 9.30am."

About 20 researchers and sleep experts are running the Oxford project, funded by the Wellcome Trust and Education Endowment Fund, and involving York University and Durham University.

Estimated optimum times for people in their:

Twenties:
9.30am – wake-up
Midday – start work
5pm – exercise
8pm – stop work
1am – sleep

Forties:
7.50am – wake-up
10.20am – start work
3.30pm – exercise
6.20pm – stop work
11.30am – sleep

Sixties:
6.30am – wake up
8am – exercise
9am – start work
5pm – finish work
10pm – sleep

BUT Dr Harvey pointed out that there is always variation in these patterns, and ideally we should sleep, wake up and work within our own rhythm.

Pupils left starstruck following Olympians' Oxford visit

Video online at oxfordshireguardian.co.uk

ABOUT 600 girls had the chance to meet some of their favourite star athletes in a special day of sports in Oxford.

The 14- to 18-year-olds from 39 schools across England met Olympic gold medal winning hurdler Sally Gunnell, skeleton bobsleigh Winter Olympic gold medallist Amy Williams and Team GB rower from Oxford, Katie Greves.

Students from across Oxfordshire including Oxford High School, Cheney School and, St Helens & St Katherine's in Abingdon, joined pupils from as far as Newcastle at Headington School in Headington Road for the 'sporting conference' last Thursday.

By Loughlan Campbell

Gunnell, 49, unveiled the school's new dance and fitness centre. The athlete turned TV presenter, who won gold in the 400m hurdles in the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, said: "I just think it's going to be a life-changing day for these girls.

"This is the kind of age where girls are deciding what they want to do and I'm so excited for them that they have the chance to get inspired."

Amy Williams, 32, who won gold in the 2010 Winter Olympics in Vancouver, gave a speech at the event.

She told the Guardian: "When I was the age of some of these girls I never really had these opportunities so I think this is such a good idea.

"It's been such a lovely day and I've felt a really good vibe."

Headington School pupil Liv Newall, 15, from Noke, said: "The best part of the day was the speeches. Amy Williams was really inspiring and it was great to hear what she's done and hear about her experiences."

Cheney School pupil Katherine Smart, 18, from Headington, said: "I have just enjoyed the variety of things to do. There's a range of useful things and I am learning quite a lot."

The students took part in various workshops including gym training with England Women's Rugby World Cup winners Rocky Clark and Kat Merchant, to competing in a rowing taster with Greves.

Greves, 33, an ex-Headington School pupil and English teacher at Oxford Academy, said: "Everybody is pumped up and raring to go.

"I think the girls are getting really inspired by the chance to give rowing a go. I hope a few of them decide to pursue it because we've seen some really talented potential rowers here."

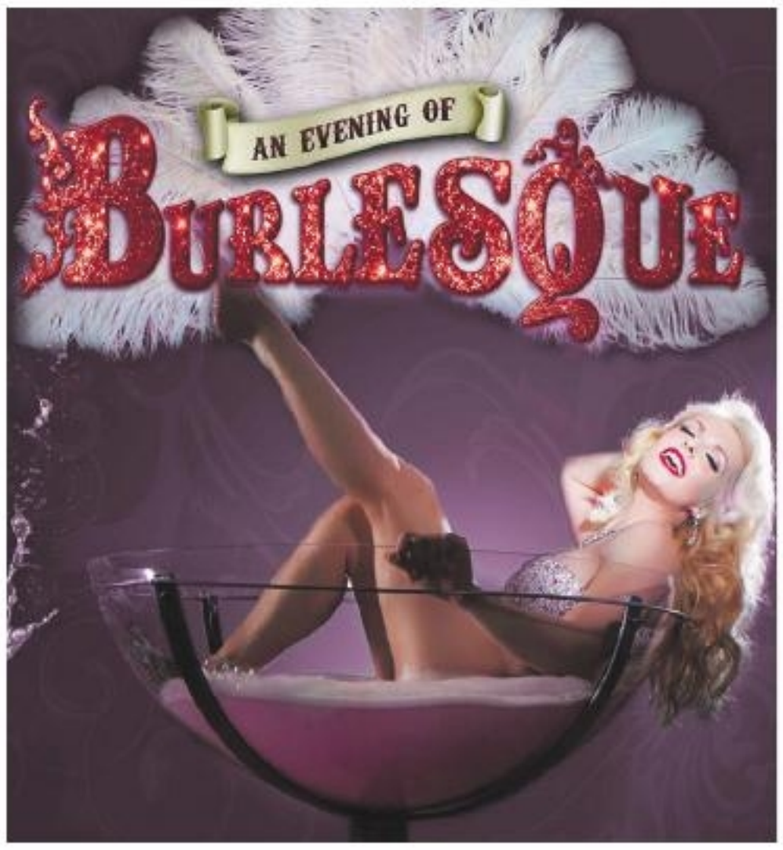
WIN Tickets to See An Evening of Burlesque



FOR the first time ever, the biggest burlesque stars from around the world are set to star on the same stage.

An Evening of Burlesque unveils a brand-new, spectacular stage show for 2015, promising that Britain's biggest burlesque production is "going global" for the new year.

It is coming to the New Theatre, Oxford on Friday, October 30. And we have teamed up with the producers of the superb An Evening of Burlesque to give away pairs of tickets to see the show.

Among the array of international talent brought together for An Evening of Burlesque's nationwide tour are the very best burlesque performers drawn from five continents of the world. The themes run thick, fast and from equally far afield.

For its fifth year, An Evening of Burlesque goes international.

Closing date: 25 October

The set list can include strutting Vegas showgirls in all their finery, a tutu too funny take on Russia's Bolshoi Ballet, going nuts on Brazil's Copacabana beach, a Roaring (with laughter) Twenties tribute to America's Great Gatsby and international intrigue thanks to a James Bond finale, featuring a giant martini glass glamorously garnished by a splashing Bond Girl.

Already Britain's biggest burlesque extravaganza – a quarter of a million people have now seen this show – An Evening of Burlesque has spent the past two years touring the rest of the world, revealing the secrets of the art of burlesque to delighted audiences.

From Milan to Zurich, St Petersburg to Minsk, Leipzig to Verona, Dresden to Riga, Padova to Dessau audiences have given the show a standing ovation.

The show combines musical and theatrical parody, cutting-edge variety, magic, comedy and dance with the art of striptease.

Also, there's a prize for the best-dressed member of the audience with theatregoers revelling in the opportunity of dressing up for the occasion.

For over-18s only, An Evening of Burlesque is the slickest, wickedly wittiest, most delightfully choreographed cabaret spectacular of the year.

Dress up and come to the cabaret!

Aston and James, everything for the workplace...

WE are a local business...
OVER the past 25 years, Oxford have won the boat race 14 times and our local population has grown by approximately 20%.

Aston & James have also built a wealth of experience, knowledge and an outstanding reputation through working in partnership with local businesses, just like yours. So much so, that we recently won the West Oxfordshire Small Business Award.

New group in town

AN UP and coming band will be making their first appearance at The Swan pub in Banbury this Saturday, October 3.

By James Richings

Country and rock group John McCullagh and The Escorts will perform hits from their album 'New Born Cry', which will see 17-year-old lead singer John McCullagh, guitarist Craig McMahon, bassist Chris Jones and drummer Kieran Robinson take to the stage.

The chance to be a full-time musician came at a huge cost for John, who dropped out of school aged 15 to pursue his dream – something his has no regrets over.

"I left school at 15 as I never really got on at school. It just wasn't for me," he said.

"I learnt more from a Bob Dylan record than I ever did in a maths lesson."

"As long as I enjoy my work and continue to get pleasure from it, that's success for me."

He added: "I think nowadays there's too much pressure on people to succeed, whether it's with exams, university or whatever.

"Music will always be in my life as it's just part of my DNA so to speak, so I'll always do this no matter what."

The group is currently on a UK tour which will see them perform in Darlington, Wolverhampton, Glasgow and Manchester, as well as many other towns and cities across the UK in the next few months.

Ever since starting to write his own songs while learning to play the guitar aged 12, John has seen his musical career develop.

He secured his first record deal aged 14 with 359Music and continued to develop his skills with the guidance of John Power, best-known for being a member of The La's and The Cast.

The guidance has paid off for John, and he has since performed at a number of different festivals in the north east, with musician Courtney Love even praising the teenager.

"When I was about 11 years old I started noticing the music my dad had on, which was like Black Sabbath and Bob Dylan," John said.

"And because of the internet I found out everything I wanted to know - what records to listen to, and who to listen to.

"It was a great education from 11 to 13 of discovering this other world of music that none of my friends had even heard of."

The free gig at the Bar Street pub starts at 9pm, and is expected to finish at around 11pm.

• John McCullagh

Book night

THE Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot host its monthly book group night on Tuesday, October 6.

Book worms from all different backgrounds can express their views and opinions on a number of different tomes.

This is a free event at the Station Road venue, which starts 7.30pm.

Trespassing in Didcot

THERE will be no holding back when comedian and journalist Mark Thomas visits the Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot tomorrow evening.

By James Richings

The 52-year-old entertainer, who has made a name for himself by creating and starring in a number of television and radio shows since the '80s, arrives at the Station Road venue as part of his 'Trespass Tour'.

He will discuss a number of political and everyday situations with brutal honesty and clever wit.

It is not Mark's first visit to Didcot, and he said: "I have performed there since it opened and it's a fabulous place and a real gem for Didcot," he told the Guardian.

"It seems to have terrific support from the community so of course I am happy to be back."

Citing Dave Allen, Bertolt Brecht and Billy Childish as his main inspirations for his entertainment work, Mark admitted that he became 'an accidental journalist' when working on his own show 'The Mark Thomas Comedy Product' on Channel 4.

The show was a mixture of comedy and politics, with Mark using eccentric ways to interview guests whilst discussing politics within his stand-up act.

The show lasted for six series between 1996 and 2002, with Mark being recognised as one of the most talked about comedians at the time.

But is has not all been smooth sailing for the comedian.

"When you have died the worst possible death on stage, gone home with humiliation ringing in your ears, can't sleep as you're cringing at how stupid you handled yourself but wake up the next day thinking about your next gig and how different it is going to be, then you stand a chance of being a stand-up," Mark said.

"My shows are a mix of journalism, theatre, stand-up and activism with a dash of performance art, so if I had to put a career on a passport I would have, 'creative artist'."

The show starts at 8pm.

The English Beat return to the O2

FOLLOWING on from their successful show at Oxford's O2 Academy last year, The English Beat are back at the Cowley Road venue tomorrow night, October 2.

By James Richings

Created by Birmingham-based musician Dave Wakeling, the group is a spin-off band from the 1970s and '80s group of the same name .

They are currently halfway through their autumn UK tour.

And with their brand new album 'Here We Go Love' due to be released next spring, Dave hopes the group can replicate the success the O2 Academy in Oxford brought them at their previous performance there last year.

"We're just off the back of doing a fabulous show in Leeds in which we are halfway through the tour and our shows are getting better and better," he told the Guardian.

"We performed at the O2 in Oxford last year and our show on October 2 will be a triumphant return.

"It was a really great, dancing crowd and we had a really great night. They can expect the same with a bit more this time around."

The English Beat, who are best known for their hits 'Mirror in the Bathroom' and 'Hands Off She's Mine', released three albums during their first spell between 1978 and 1983, all of which peaked within the UK Top 40.

After a brief reunion in 2003, the group reformed for a third time in 2006, although confusingly there are now three versions of The English Beat.

Dave's group is one, former lead singer Ranking Roger has his own group called The Beat with Ranking Roger which he does with his children, and drummer Everett Morton performs in his adaptation, The Beat Goes Bang.

Despite this, Dave hopes the three groups can all collaborate one day, as he hopes to inspire a new generation of musicians.

"A lot of youngsters will benefit more if they go and watch live music as they will learn a lot about stagecraft," Dave said.

"If a band wins a competition and they become famous over a matter of months, they will perform together huddled up in the middle of the stage like they are trying to protect themselves from a dangerous wind.

"You learn a lot by watching other bands performing and by doing it yourself.

"It's a lot of trial and error.

"When you perform, you learn how to connect with people when you're under the pressure of adrenaline, and it's not easy!

"The adrenaline grabs hold of you and sometimes you get into a whole host of strange situations."

Doors open at 6.30pm.

GORDON CORERA

Like a cyber-James Bond, the computer was born to spy. The work of Alan Turing led to the birth of electronic espionage. In the following decades, computers transformed intelligence from the spy hunting of the Cold War years to the data-driven pursuit of terrorists and the corporate cyber-espionage of the 21st century.
Drawing on unique access to Western intelligence agencies and insights into the most powerful technology companies, BBC Security Correspondent Gordon Corera explores the new space in which the worlds of espionage, diplomacy, international business and technology collide.

De Niro, starting again at 70...

IT'S almost unthinkable now that Robert De Niro began his on-screen life as a resident of America's meanest streets, slowly descending into madness as a taxi driving Vietnam-veteran with a chip on his shoulder, and a member of The Godfather's clan. After all, these days he's more recognisable for light-hearted performances in comedies, as oppose to chilling scenes in which he asks his own reflection if he's looking at himself.

The Intern is a case in point. Which isn't to say this Nancy Meyers directed flick isn't a strong release- the film-maker behind It's Complicated and Something's Gotta Give is again offering us a movie that's just the right side of twee and heartwarming, verging on the poignant. But this is still a million miles from the powerhouse performances that first propelled De Niro into the international spotlight.

Perhaps it's something to do with age, which is the thematic totem of The Intern, which arrives on 2nd October nationwide. De Niro plays Ben Whittaker, a 70-year-old retiree and widower, who decides against spending the rest of his days with feet glued to a coffee table in a permanent afternoon TV session. Seeing an opportunity for an intern at a successful online fashion site, he applies and, thanks to a push to get more senior-minded people on board at the firm, is accepted for the role.

What follows is in many ways predictable. Jules Ostin (Anne Hathaway) initially has little time for small talk with this aging guy who, in her opinion, is tantamount to wasted hours spent delivering training. As he responds during the interview when asked 'where do you see yourself in ten years time?', he's not that far from the big eight-o, meaning even if nobody wants to broach the subject there's only so much shelf-life left, and eventually he will be forced to bow out.

Less cynical are his co-workers, who include Nat Wolff, Adam DeVine and Zack Pearlman. Quickly making a positive impression on those directly working with him, eventually even Ostin has to admit that with age comes an experience that can be useful, even if it's not strictly relevant to the world of online fashion retail. Then, when the boss-woman faces her own seemingly impossible odds, this silver-haired chap comes into his own, imparting advice based on the fact there are very few problems he hasn't lived through, and overcome himself. Surprisingly moving and entirely relevant in an era when so many great employees are cast aside due to their date of birth, it's also witty, and smile-inducing.

• Robert De Niro lights up the screen in Nancy Meyers' new release The Intern.

Brand new Bentley Bentayga set to be released next year

REVIEW: Bentley Bentayga

By James Richings

THIS September, a brand new car was introduced to the Bentley family.

Revealed at this year's International Motor Show in Germany, which took place from September 17 to September 27, the British car manufacturer announced that the Bentley Bentayga will be available to purchase next year.

The four-seat, five-door SUV vehicle was designed, engineered and hand-crafted at its headquarters in Crewe, with the Bentayga offering a wide range of features for the driver.

One of these is the Traffic Sign Recognition system, which detects a variety of traffic signs whilst displaying traffic information to the driver.

And a system called Top View uses four cameras to display an overall picture of the vehicle's surroundings.

The Bentayga is also available with Park Assist which detects suitable parking spaces before self-directed steering takes over to support parking manoeuvres, even in narrow spaces.

The dashboard takes the iconic Bentley 'wing' design as its inspiration, with the Bentayga's exterior showing shades of previous Bentley models.

Similar to the Bentley Mulsanne, which was first introduced in 2010, the Bentayga has four round LED headlamps and large matrix grille for an intimidating look.

Chairman and chief executive of Bentley Motors, Wolfgang Dürheimer, said "The Bentayga redefines luxury in the SUV sector and offers a genuine Bentley experience in any environment, thanks to a combination of unparalleled attention to detail, go-anywhere ability and cutting-edge technology.

"The Bentayga is the next step in our brand's bold future."

Roofe snatches United winner in York tussle

By Loughlan Campbell

KEMAR Roofe proved himself to be a decisive cog for Oxford United once again after he got the winning goal in a 2-1 win for his side at York City on Tuesday.

United dominated proceedings at Bootham Crescent with Danny Hylton firing Michael Appleton's side in front in the first half, before Rhys Turner capitalised on poor goalkeeping from Sam Slocombe to get City level.

The home side improved in the second half but it was Oxford who managed to run away with the result after the ball cannoned into the net off Roofe.

Roofe's sixth goal of the season helped increase United's league fortunes following two successive draws, lifting Oxford to sixth in the table.

Appleton's side could have been in front inside four minutes after Danny Rose's header just flew over the bar from close range following a whipped George Baldock cross.

United got the opener on 10 minutes with Liam Sercombe offering a weighted ball between the York defence, which allowed Hylton to latch on to, skip round Scott Flinders and place into the net.

Sercombe nearly had a second eight minutes later that Flinders got down well to block, and Callum O'Dowda saw his shot blocked just before the half-hour mark.

It was shortly afterwards that York struck back after a crisis of communication between the Oxford defence and Slocombe, as Turner rounded the ball into the net.

After the break York came out fighting, but Roofe was keen to make his mark on the match and fired two shots just wide of the mark, before forcing Flinders into making a sensational save on 70 minutes.

The resulting corner saw Johnny Mullins leap high and knock a header goalwards, which bounced off a defender on the line and cannoned into Roofe before nestling in the net.

The goal proved to be the winner for United and Appleton can breath a sigh of relief after a frustrating couple of games for United over the course of September.

Their sixth place keeps them in contention at the top of League Two, with a fiery encounter at Accrington Stanley on Saturday set to prove a stern test in their bid to challenge at the table's top half.

Redskins destroy Stars in South London trip

OXFORD City Stars fell to a crushing 10-3 defeat at Streatham Redskins on Saturday in a thrashing.

The Redskins led 2-1 at the first intermission with goals from Kamil Kinkor and Dom Hopkins sending them into a lead with Darren Elliot getting the Stars' goal.

Adam Wood then put the Redskins further in front with a wrap around before Evander Grindell planted the puck into the net from the post to make it four for the home side.

Oxford's goaltender Connor Ranby had to be at his best to keep out the Redskins on a number of occasions before Chris Wiggins added a tap in for his side.

Joe Edwards managed to pull one back for the Stars with Mike Whillock and Dax Hedges assisting the play.

Stephen Fisher then scored from the penalty spot with the score 6-2 at the end of the first period.

Jack Tarczycki then fired another in before Adam Rasmussen, Kinkor and Joe Allen rounded out the scoring for the home side with Mike Whillock firing home for Oxford for a final score of 10-3.

Mid-race error costs Smith points

A MISTAKE halfway through the race cost Bradley Smith a better result as he finished eighth in Sunday's MotoGP race at Aragon.

Starting 10th at the Spanish circuit, Smith was up to ninth by the end of the first lap and gradually moved his way up to sixth by lap seven.

However as he was chasing the Ducati of Andrea Dovizioso ahead, Smith ran wide and was shuffled back two places.

The 24-year-old kept fighting to try and get back past Cal Crutchlow ahead of him, but was unsuccessful and had to settle for eighth at the chequered flag.

"I have to be happy with the result after what was certainly a tough race at Aragon," said Smith.

"Unfortunately I made the mistake when I was right behind Dovizioso and almost ran into him, and it took me 10 laps to make up that second that I lost which just proves how easily matched we all were.

"But to come away with this result and without losing too many points in the championship is overall quite positive."

Smith remains fifth in the championship with 143 points, and moves on to the next race in Japan on October 11.

Millers too strong for poor Wantage

A RAMPANT first-half performance from high-flying North Leigh led them to a 2-0 victory over Oxfordshire rivals Wantage Town in a fiery contest at Alfredian Park on Tuesday.

Goals from Kieran Sanders and Stuart Hole spurred the Millers on to hold on to the win with Daniel Barry's Wantage side unable to really make a dent in the Millers defence.

On a cold autumn night, North Leigh got the ball rippling along the surface right from the start, with their silky attacking play leaving Wantage chasing shadows.

North Leigh looked to punish their opponents from set pieces and with 14 minutes on the clock, the Millers took the lead in stunning fashion.

By Loughlan Campbell

A whipped corner from Morgan Williams was expertly volleyed into the net by Sanders from three yards, leaving the home side stunned.

The Millers went on to dominate possession, with the trio of Williams, Sanders and Callum McNish always looking a threat.

In the 21st minute, it was suddenly 2-0 after another Williams corner was headed into the net off the left-hand post from a lofted Stuart Hole header.

The effort seemed baffling as neither side expected the ball to divert in and Wantage could not find a way to hit back in the half with the Millers keeping hold of the ball well.

The second half saw Barry's men spurred on and they charged down their opponents constantly, restricting their link-up play.

Ben Whitehead nearly scored a stunner with half an hour to play as he latched on to a ball, controlled well and launched an effort that just flew over the bar.

Williams then fired over from just outside the box, before McNish fired wide after good work from Aaron Woodley saw the midfield blast in a cross which the forward couldn't knock into the net despite being only a few yards out.

All in all, it was a strong performance from North Leigh who got their eight league win of the campaign to stay top whilst Wantage Town remain sixteenth.

Easy win for City in strong cup showing

A SECOND-HALF brace from Omari Sterling-James helped Oxford City ease their way into the FA Cup's third qualifying round in a 3-1 win over Shortwood United.

Bradley Bubb's penalty fired City in front in the first half with Sterling-James grabbing his double after the break whilst Andy Lewis scored a penalty for the visitors.

City got their game going after Bubb fired low into the left hand corner from the spot after Kynan Issac had been tripped by Sam Rawlings.

Julen Lafuente went close after he found himself in great space six yards out, but he couldn't turn beat the keeper.

City doubled their lead just after the break with Bubb making a meal of the Shortwood defence and whipping the ball across the area for Sterling-James to slot in.

Just three minutes later, the visitors got a goal back with Lewis barrelling the ball home following a foul on Liam Meredith in the area.

However, City soon put United to the sword with Bubb and Sterling-James once again opening the Shortwood defence and Sterling-James knocked the ball in for City's third and last goal.

Teenage cricket star joins Sussex Academy

• Harrison Ward, 15

A TALENTED 15-year-old cricketer has been awarded a two-year contract with Sussex Academy after his debut for the Oxfordshire Cricket senior team this summer.

Harrison Ward, who turns 16 in October, is currently a first team player at Horspath Cricket Club, and hit a championship hundred on his debut for the senior team.

The St Edward's School pupil will be one of a maximum of twelve young players selected for possessing the potential ability to play first class cricket as a member of the Sussex Academy.

The ambitious star will receive an individual development programme over the next 24 months.

He said: "I am really excited about the opportunity I now have with Sussex. Having met with the coaches and had a practice sessions down at Hove, I knew it was the right way to go.

"I have really enjoyed this summer and it has been my best yet. I've loved the challenges of starting to play Premier League and Minor Counties Cricket."

Harrison will be under the tutelage of Keith Greenfield, Sussex Academy director, who said: "Harrison has done exceptionally well to earn this place on our Academy and inspire others to follow him."

Plato slips back in title hunt

• Jason Plato (front) fights off Gordon Shedden (car 52) at Silverstone (picture courtesy of btcc.net)

JASON Plato's title hopes in the British Touring Car Championship took a hit on Sunday, as he slipped 23 points behind series leader Gordon Shedden with only one round remaining.

The Oxford-based driver didn't have the best of luck at Silverstone at the weekend, with a puncture dropping him to 25th position in race one.

He got back into the points in race two as he came home seventh, but lost further ground to Shedden who finished fourth.

And while he was able to beat his title rival in race three, it wasn't by much as Plato came fourth and Shedden fifth.

"There's no getting around it, a 23 point gap is not good, but we all know anything can happen in this game and it can all turn around on a sixpence," said Plato.

"We had bad luck in race one with the puncture, and that sort of thing can happen to anyone.

"We improved the car for race three, but didn't get the rub of the green at the start. It was a strange weekend."

Plato is second in the standings with 302 points going into the final three races of the season with it all to play for.

DOUBLE MISERY FOR ABINGDON

By Loughlan Campbell

AFTER a recent upturn in fortunes, two back-to-back defeats to Highmoor Ibis and Ascot United has seen Abingdon United slide back into the bottom three of the table.

Steve Alman's side have now conceded 42 goals in 13 games - the highest in the league - and Tuesday's defeat at Ascot will have felt like a sucker punch to the club's recent positive mood.

Ascot's Bradley Fraser scored one and provided two assists as the Berkshire side ran Abingdon into the ground with their close ball retention and quick build-up play.

The home side view themselves as title contenders and Abingdon were there for the taking following a 6-0 defeat to Highmoor Ibis on Saturday.

Joe Grant squandered a chance for Ascot early on, after he shot wide from Gurkan Gokmen's through ball.

The hosts then had the ball cleared off the line on two occasions with Fraser's shot cleared at the near post, while a Joe Grant effort was scrambled away at the far post.

Ascot finally got their opener after 33 minutes with Fraser whipping the ball in for Gokmen to smash his effort into the roof of the net to Abingdon's dismay.

Ascot's Jesse Wilson then sent a ferocious header against the bar before they got their second, with Fraser threading the ball through to Jamie West, whose low shot beat Abingdon's Jack Griffin.

Tony Booker came close for Abingdon just after the break but Ascot soon finished the Oxfordshire side off with Fraser playing a neat one-two with Gokmen before drilling his effort just wide of Griffin to beat him at the bottom left corner.

Abingdon were allowed more time on the ball and looked to find a way through, but the damage from the first half couldn't be undone and they were able to break through a strong Ascot defence.

Up next for Steve Alman's men is an encounter with Binfield at Stubbs Lane on Saturday, before they face Oxford City Nomads at Marsh Lane next Wednesday in the Perpetua Press Floodlit Cup second round.
